Irises

Hemerocallises

Poppies

Peonies

M. FREDERICK STUNTZ

FORMERLY ASSOCIATED WITH THE LATE REV. JACOB STORER (A. I. S. 1921-1938)
THE PIONEER OF IRIS BREEDERS IN THIS LOCALITY

TIP-TOP GARDENS takes its name from a real estate development on the site of our original garden in Snyder, N. Y. It supplies us with our ideal to have our garden and plants of TIP TOP quality. Our business is the outgrowth of a life-long hobby and love for flowers, especially irises and those plants like hemerocallises and peonies which are so compatible with them. The owner was born June 23, 1887. After a business college education, entered the employ of the Pierce Cycle Co. of Buffalo, N. Y., which later grew into the Pierce Arrow Motor Car Co., in whose employ I spent twenty-three years. Operated a retail Shoe Store eight years; and during the second world war was spare parts engineer for Curtiss-Wright Corporation.

At present devoting all of my time to gardening.

M. FREDERICK STUNTZ

Are you interested in IRISES?

Tip-Top Gardens is famous for its large collection of over 1000 varieties. Due to curtailments necessary during the war, I am not able to print a list this year, but would be glad to exchange comments.

For the convenience of visitors to the famous collection at the CHARLES K. BASSETT IRIS GARDEN at 2700 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y., I am adding the following chart and price list of all varieties growing there.

IRISES

Comprising all of the Dykes Medal winners in England, France and America and a representative collection of the finest Irises in the world.

(Duplicates may be bought at TIP-TOP GARDENS, 6505 Main Street, Williamsville, N. Y.

HEMEROCALLISES

(Commonly known as daylilies)

Only those starred * are for sale. The balance are specimen plants of which I have as yet no surplus. Two stars , three for the price of two.

A tremendous wave of popularity is sweeping the country for this most reliable and beautiful flower for hot summer days. This is due to the discovery in China of a pink species called fulva rosea thru which hybridizers have given us a marvelous range of color and have extended the blooming season so that some variety is always in bloom.

Most of the varieties not starred may be obtained from Fairmount Gardens, Lowell, Mass. Their catalog gives more information than any other for gardeners or the "rare souls" mentioned by J. Marion Shull in paragraph ten.

Every daylily fancier should own a copy of DAYLILIES, the only book completely devoted to this flower, by Dr. A. B. Stout, of the New York Botanical Gardens.

Dr. Stout is producing some of the finest varieties and these are disseminated by the Farr Nursery Co., Weiser Park, Pa.

The first bulletin of the new American Hemerocallis Society will have the addresses of many other dealers.

The use of blooming season and color symbols of the American Iris Society is my own idea, as I do not have time this year to write complete descriptions. Following this is the height which of course varies with the climate. The letters between height and year of introduction are the first and last letters of the breeders surname, in some the first two. The key follows:

No great enjoyment is derived from breeder's discards or mixed unlabelled collections. Henry Van Dyke said, "To call the plants by name makes them a hundredfold more interesting." I use the Perfect Garden Label made by Howard Hammitt, 15 Lewis St., Hartford 3, Conn. The only other satisfactory label I know of is made by Lincoln Laboratories, Northfield, Minn.

The best book available for color identification is "A Dictionary of Color" by Maerz and Paul. $14.00 is a lot of money for a book, but it is worth it!

Mr. J. Marion Shull, in the National Horticultural Magazine of July, 1945, writes as follows:

"We garden for many reasons; some are artists making pictures to delight the eye; some, work like the jeweler to create the perfect gem; some, like the scientist searching for understanding thru all the varied wonders of plant growth and development; and some for rivalry of fellow gardeners, proud of producing the biggest and best; — But there are a few rare souls in whom are united all these motives and more, and these live in their gardens even when they are absent from them. So versatile is the hemerocallis now, that it can satisfy in great measure all these aspirations."

The greatest joy comes to those who share their experiences. You can do this by joining the new American Hemerocallis Society.

Finally, surprise yourself (and me too!) by sending a trial order for some of the starred varieties, adding one or more substitutes, just in case —.

ORIENTAL POPPIES

This regal perennial has been much hybridized in recent years. They complement the irises and hemerocallises since it has attained that true spectrum red which is so much sought after in the former species. Their blooming season has been extended from early May to July, and some, notably Cherry Rose, are remontant in the fall of the year. I have surplus to sell only of those varieties which are starred (*).

Probably the foremost breeder of oriental poppies is Mr. A. E. Curtis, 5930 Argus Rd., Cincinnati 24, Ohio. A committee of experts of the American Oriental Poppy Society will meet in his garden this year and we hope it will result in a revised check list which will include the many new varieties bred and named since the first edition was printed in 1942.

The first column refers to the Check List, L1 signifies List 1 or Approved, L2 signifies List 2 or Under Observation, L3 signifies Disapproved.

Poppies do best when transplanted after they have had their summer rest, and I do not dig them until new growth starts, beginning about Sept. 1st, but would appreciate placing your order in advance.

PEONIES

As our old friend, the late poet and philosopher of Marilla, N. Y., Ernest L. Kelsey said, "God lights up the Garden when Peonies bloom." For a glorious display in the month of June plant a few of these queenly flowers. They are unsurpassed for hardiness and once planted may be left alone for many years with a minimum of attention.

My prices are not for standard divisions but are for a single bud on dormant roots. For example a 5 budded division on Addielanchea would cost $1.00. I do not advise less than a root with three buds, and five to ten will give you a size which will bloom the following year. This does not apply to tree peonies of which I have no surplus to sell this year.

Ratings are those of the American Peony Society. For a true appreciation of these gorgeous flowers I recommend that you join this organization.

M. FREDERICK STUNTZ
